MAKE SURE OF THIS.

WHENEVER a cooking receipt calls for baking powder, use only the "Royal." Better results will be obtained because it is the purest. It will make the food lighter, sweeter, of finer flavor, more digestible and wholesome. It is always reliable and uniform in its work.

A. FORTIN, Chef, White House, for Presidents Arthur and Cleveland: "I have tested many baking powders, but for finest food can use none but 'Royal.'"

THE STATE.

CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

One of the most interesting women in the town of Harrison is Deborah Dyer, who is 98 years old. Sine the death of her sister, who died at a great age, she has lived all alone. She does her housework, has a cow and makes her own butter. The other day she walked to the store, a distance of two and one-half miles, over hard traveling, "just to try her strength."

One of the most successful Cumberland county farmers is S. H. Dawes, proprietor of Grand View Farm in Harrison. He raises this year almost 80 bushels of berries, 30 bushels of strawberries, 40 bushels of raspberries, six bushels of gooseberries and two bushels of currants. The summer boarders consume most of his yield which is marketed at the Glen House and at Bridgton.

Walter Harmon, Esq., has sold his place on Chadbourne's Hill, Bridgton, to Mr. Cox of Portland, and he and his wife return forthwith to their home in Boston. The place is a very fine summer home, which Mr. Harmon gives up because his age compels him to remain in his city home.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY.

The west branch drive has arrived at Oldtown, 110 days since leaving the landing and 65 days since the whole drive started.

KNOX COUNTY.

Sheriff J. W. Gray went to Union Tuesday on complaint of parties in Union, and visited the premises of Mr. Jas. Sidelinger, near North Waldoboro, with a view of finding and seizing intoxicating liquors kept for illegal sale. He made a careful search, but was unable to find any such contraband goods. He arrested Mr. Sidelinger, however, on another warrant, charging him with a single sale of intoxicating liquor. Respondent was brought to Rockland and arraigned.

Mr. Fred Trowbridge, formerly of Rockland, has become steward of the Adams House, Boston.

SAGADAHOC COUNTY.

Dennis Roberts of Bath, will go in command of Harry Donnell's new schooner, Lora M. Thurlow. He was formerly in the Fanny Milliken and O. S. Barrett and others and has been very successful.

Andrew Webster now has charge of affairs at the American Express office in Bath. Charles H. Greenleaf having resigned that position to accept one offered by the Eastern Electric Construction Company. Mr. Greenleaf has had charge of the American Express Company's business in Bath for nearly a quarter of a century.

OXFORD COUNTY.

The descendants and immediate relatives of the late Deacon Gibbs Benson of North Paris, assembled at the old homestead, now owned by his son, Rev. Seth Benson on the 29th ult to the number of 64. Among those present was Mrs. Mary Bell of Minneapolis, Minn. Her mother was the daughter of Deacon Benson. When quite young she married Luther E. Tubbs of Paris, and went west. She and her husband suffered all the hardships of pioneer life, fleeing at one time with her children on horseback to escape the Indians. She is now blessed with comfortable circumstances.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

The Pittsfield Advertiser has the following in regard to two young people in whom Boothbay people are interested. "Mr. Cyrus R. Tupper and Miss Nellie Duley, two of Stark's leading young people, were united in marriage at the home of the bride, July 10 by her grandfather, John Brown, Esq., of Farmington. Miss Duley has gained an enviable reputation as a school teacher, both in this state and Massachusetts, since graduating from the Farmington Normal school a few years ago; and Mr. Tupper has recently established a flourishing law practice at Boothbay. The wedding occurred at noon after which dinner was served, and the bride was presented with $160 by assembled friends."

DR. BALDWIN GOING TO BAR HARBOR.

But Mr. Blaine Apparently Does Not Need His Services.

The Secretary Yesterday Was Out Driving And Walking.

A Peculiar Interview With the Specialist From Florence.

BAR HARBOR, August 7.—Emmons Blaine said to a reporter of the Associated Press to-night: "There is nothing in the report that Dr. Baldwin is coming to Bar Harbor to see my father professionally. If he is coming to Bar Harbor at all my father knows nothing about it. He has not been sent for. My father has no need of his services. My father has not taken any medicine for nearly two months. He is as well as usual, very well indeed. He is gaining all the time. As to the reported visit of Ex-Collector Erhardt, I can say nothing. I didn't know he was coming up to this time. I know he has not called upon my father."

Secretary Blaine walked out this morning with his physician, Dr. Taylor and afterwards took the doctor in his carriage about the town, holding the reins himself. Dr. Taylor said to-day. "Mr. Blaine does not need a physician. Almost the only service I can render is to restrain him whe hen is inclined to overdo."

CHARLES SMILED

While Famous William Told the Public to Mind Its Business.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., August 7.—Dr. William Baldwin of Florence, Italy, specialist in nervous diseseases, was at his old home in Birmingham today. In conversation with a reporter, Dr. Charles Baldwin, the specialist's brother, said the doctor came to the United States partly on business. He added: "I suppose my brother will call on Mr. Blaine before he returns." At this juncture, Dr. William appeared. He said, in response to a question: "I have not seen Mr. Blaine and will not say whether I shall call on him or not. It is not the duty of a physician to announce such matters to the public. The public has nothing whatever to do with my business. It will not know whether I shall see Mr. Blaine or not." Turning to his brother, he said: "Charles, you should not have given this to the reporters. You do not know whether I shall see Mr. Blaine or not. I did not tell you." Dr. Charles, during this speech, listened with a smile, not saying a word. Dr. Wm. Baldwin left for Bar Harbor this afternoon.

BLAINE NOMINATED.

Crawford County, Pa., Republicans Want Him for President.

MEADVILLE, Pa., August 7.—The Republican County Convention of Crawford county in session here today adopted the following resolution unanimously and enthusiastically:

Resolved, That we recognize in James G. Blaine the embodiment of all those vital principles which have added glory and renown to the republic and crowned the Republican party as the special champion of the rights of the American people. Great as a representative in the halls of Congress, wise in advance of his time in the Senate of the United States and amid the hot showers of the diplomat in his intercourse with foreign governments of which the prompt and satisfactory adjustment of the Italian trouble is a notable example, making the American name feared and respected as never before in the history of the nation; whose policy in dealing with Cuba, San Domingo, and the Spanish-American republics has greatly advanced the interests of the citizens of the Union—all stamp him, to our mind, as pre-eminently the greatest of American statesmen, and one thoroughly equipped to fill the most exalted station within the gift of the people. Recognizing all these qualifications in James G. Blaine, we hereby declare him to be our choice for President in 1892.

A resolution was also passed endorsing the regret expressed by the National Republican Executive Committee over the resignation of Chairman Quay, and expressing continued confidence in his leadership.

MAINE.

Editor Jones Will Pull Through.

POLAND SPRINGS, August 7.—There is no perceptible change in the condition of Editor Jones. His physicians believe that unless something new occurs, he will pull through. The illness of Editor Jones naturally occasions a good deal of apprehension among his friends. Mr. Jones is now 79 years old, but he has been able until recently to give his undivided attention to his newspaper, which is a very solid piece of property. His retirement would leave the active management of the Times in the hands of his son.

Funeral of F. F. Williams.

KENNEBUNK, August 7.—The funeral of Rev. F. F. Williams, who was burned to death on Monday in the Weed House at Palmer, Mass., took place here yesterday. In the Congregational church a mass of flowers had been arranged to take the place of the casket, as the remains could not be viewed. Rev. G. A. Lockwood, the pastor of the church, and an intimate friend of the deceased, preached the funeral sermon. The two surviving brothers of Mr. Williams, Capt. A. N. Williams of this place, and Henry Williams of Boston, were present.

May Employ One Thousand Men.

PITTSFIELD, August 7.—One-half of the extensive water power at Burnham, heretofore owned by Doe & Milliken, has recently been sold, so the Advertiser understands, to a stock company, who intend to introduce all kinds of machinery for the manufacture of various classes of wood-work, with a foundry annex. It is hoped that this company will employ about one thousand men.

At Martha's Grove.

FRYEBURG, August 7.—At Martha's Grove, this was called temperance day, and Rev. Mr. Grant held the attention of the audience as he painted the effects of the rum traffic upon society. This evening the same speaker held the closest attention of a large audience as he spoke upon "The Perspective of Scripture." Mr. Grant's friends call this lecture a "Bible cyclone" or "A Criticism upon Bible Critics." It was an attack upon the arguments of infidels and agnostics.

How Lewis Wright Drowned.

BATH, August 7.—Lewis Wright, twelve years old, a son of James Wright, was drowned at Lily pond to-day noon. He fell out of a boat. His companion, Fred Bragg, tried to save him three times, and the last time he was caught by the throat and freed himself when under water. On reaching the shore he fainted.

The Shipyard City.

BATH, August 7.—Tuesday Kelly, Spear & Co. will launch a fine three-masted schooner from their North End yard. The new schooner built by Harry Dunnell has been named the Leora M. Thurlow.

Will Visit Portland.

NEW YORK, August 7.—It is now practically decided that the Squadron of Evolution will sail from here next Tuesday or Wednesday. The vessels are now having their bunkers filled with coal, and are under orders to be ready for sea by next Tuesday. The squadron will make a cruise to the eastward, up along the coast, returning some time in the fall. Where the vessels will go, or just how long they will be gone, is not yet known The cruise is nothing out of the ordinary; it is merely in accordance with the regular duty—drills while in port, and drills, practice and manœuvres while at sea.

ONLY A SUMMER SHOWER

But It Caused Considerable Loss in Maine Towns—One Man Killed.

[Special to the Press.]

LIVERMORE FALLS, August 7.—During this afternoon's shower, the building owned by Wm. Hall and located at Livermore, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at about $500.

BUCKFIELD, August 7.—This afternoon 4.30 o'clock, the large barn on the old Morrill estate in Buckfield, owned by Nathan E. Morrill, was struck by lightning and burned, together with 35 tons of hay, $200 worth of farming tools, etc. H. M. Robinson had just driven in with the Sumner stage to escape the shower and had a narrow escape. The loss on the barn was about $1000 above insurance.

Information has just reached here that the buildings of H. C. Ricker of Hartford were struck in the same shower.

EAST SUMNER, August 7.—East Sumner was visited by one of the heaviest showers known for years. The rain fell in torrents for nearly two hours and much damage was done to the roads in some places. Meadows are overflowed and haying is delayed for a while. Heavy grain is badly crippled down, but no serious injury was done to the crops.

BAR HARBOR EVENTS.

James C. Blaine, Jr., Hears From His Wife—Tars Parade.

BAR HARBOR, August 7.—Papers in the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., were served upon young Blaine today by the sheriff here. Desertion is the ground upon which divorce is asked.

The crews from all the ships landed at 9.15 this morning, formed in line and led by the band from the flagship Philadelphia, marched to the parade grounds. The batallion drill was held and lasted over an hour. It was enjoyed by a distinguished and interested audience. Lieutenant Maddox was in command. The manœuvres were under the eye of Admiral Gherardi. The critics say the men acquitted themselves very handsomely. Upon leaving the parade ground, the line of March was taken through the principal streets to the boats. As the line came down Main street, it was reviewed by Secretary Tracy.

A dinner was given tonight at the Kebo Valley Club by Chas. J. Morrill in honor of Phillips Brooks. The regular reception of the Mt. Desert Canoe Club was held this forenoon. Many notable people were present.

The schooner yacht Troubadour of Boston and schooner yacht Una of Boston arrived tonight.

ONE SLEEPING, THE OTHER DEAD

How a Murder Was Discovered in New York.

NEW YORK, August 7.—This afternoon Officer Frederick W. Seely noticed an offensive odor coming from a small shanty on a vacant lot at 59th street, between Madison and Park avenues, a fashionable residence locality. He entered the cabin with another policeman, and found lying in the doorway, an old man fast asleep with an old, dirty pillow under his head. In the room adjoining lay the body of an old woman, swollen to twice its natural proportions through decomposition, and covered with blood. The room was in a horrible state. Pools of blood stained the floor and everything was in a state of confusion. The woman had evidently been dead several days. The man was awakened and gave the name of Wm. Coleman. He had been on a prolonged debauch. The dead woman was his wife, Sarah Coleman, an old candy woman, who kept a shop in the shanty. He at first professed ignorance of his wife's death, but after being taken to the station house, told conflicting stories. He claims his wife was chasing some boys off the lot and hurt herself by a fall. The property belongs to the board of education, and is known as the John D. Crimmings property. Coleman was employed as a caretaker and was given permission to build a shanty on the premises.

Two Killed in This Accident.

PITTSBURG, Pa., August 7.—The New York and Chicago limited express on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad, due here at 7 o'clock this morning was wrecked near East Palestine, Ohio, 50 miles west of this city. Engineer Carney and Fireman Richay were instantly killed. As near as known no passengers were hurt. The train ran into an open switch and crashed into a freight train standing on a siding. After the accident an unknown man was killed working about the wreck.

TWO THOUSAND WERE MADE HOMELESS

When the Ocean Invaded the Land at Melbourne, Australia.

Floods Which Caused Widespread Damage and Much Suffering.

Whitechapel Again the Scene of Jack-the-Ripper's Work.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 7.—The steamer Alameda from Auckland, N. Z., brings intelligence to the effect that a great flood, which had the appearance of a tidal wave, prevailed at Melbourne, on the 13th of July. The water in the harbor rose above the level of the surrounding towns and several small vessels were wrecked. The floods were the most severe since 1862, and the course of the Yarra river presented a scene of desolation for miles. Factories along the river side were submerged, as were also a great number of houses on the south side of the river in Toorak. In South Richmond, another suburb of Melbourne, whole streets were submerged, and 2000 people were rendered homeless. Business is almost suspended in the city, and efforts are being made to relieve the wants of the sufferers.

A relief fund was started and soon reached the sum of £5000. The loss of life, it is believed did not exceed ten. Captain Lancaster and a sailor named Robertson, of the schooner Naroa, which was wrecked at Sorrento, were drowned, and a fireman on the deck of a dredger, who attempted to make the shore in a small boat, was also drowned. A schooner, name unknown, disappeared off Sorrento, and, it is believed, has been lost with all hands. The steamer Bancoora was ashore and the bottom was stove in. On the plateau of the Danedenong range an avalanche of earth fifty acres in extent swept down the mountain side, engulfing a residence there. The inmates escaped, except one woman, who had a limb broken. The railroads were partly washed out for twenty miles. A great number of sheep were drowned. It is estimated that the total loss will reach £500,000. At last advices the Murray was rising, and floods in the Albury district were feared. Much sickness was prevalent at Melbourne, attributable to exposure and to deposits of slime left by the floods.

WHITECHAPEL'S JACK.

Another Brutal Murder in the Slums of London.

LONDON, August 7.—Much excitement was occasioned in the Whitechapel district this morning when a rumor was rapidly passed from mouth to mouth that the dreaded "Jack the Ripper" had again appeared and committed one of the butcheries that have made his name a household word in this ill-favored portion of London.

At an early hour this morning while one of the denizens of Whitechapel, an old woman named Woolfe, was passing through one of the numerous dark alleys with which the region abounds, she was set upon by an unknown man armed with a sharp knife.

The place where the assault was made was a dark and dismal one, and as the hour was early the usual prowlers had sought refuge in doorways or under arches, where they lay in drunken slumbers. As rows are of nightly, almost hourly occurrence in Whitechapel no attention was paid, if, indeed, any noise was heard, to what was of course taken for one of the usual drunken scuffles.

But when the morning came a scuffice for life. From what can be learned of the circumstances surrounding the attack, it appears that the man, whom the people of Whitechapel are firmly convinced was the famous "Ripper," used his knife with fiendish ferocity.

He grasped the woman by the head, and drawing her backward he, with one hand across her throat, silenced her cries she would naturally have tried to make, while with the other hand, he drew the keen blade of his knife across her tightly drawn throat, inflicting a terrible wound.

Then, using the knife as a dagger, he plunged it into her body again and again. There is a deep wound on the woman's arm which she was evidently, while she was attempting to ward off the ferocious blows aimed at her body. When released from the grasp of her assailant the woman dropped to the ground, with the blood pouring from her wounds, and when, shortly afterward, she was discovered by a passing policeman, she was unconscious and in a dying condition. She is 70 years old. The assassin has disappeared, leaving no trace save his mutilated victim.

The woman was taken to a hospital and after a time she recovered sufficiently to tell of the attack on her. She is a German, and, unlike the other women murdered and mutilated in Whitechapel, she was not in company of the man who attacked her, but was passing along the street when, without warning, the assassin sprang upon her. She saw the glitter of the upraised steel blade, but was unable to escape from the grasp of her assailant. She raised her arm to defend her throat from the sweeping blow aimed at it, and it was through this movement that the wound in the arm was received. When her assailant released her from his grasp she fell upon a doorstep. It is understood that the police found a razor covered with blood near the place of the crime. The wound in the woman's throat could have been caused by a razor, as could also the deep cut in her arm, but from the nature of the other wounds it is believed that they were caused by either a knife or a dagger, as they appear to be stab wounds and not such as would be made with a razor.

No man has been taken into custody on suspicion of being the assassin, but the evidence against him is very weak, and no importance is attached to the arrest.

SPECULATING WITH DEATH.

The Recent Desperate Attempt to Bear the Market in Barcelona.

MADRID, August 7.—At the time of the recent fight between a band of armed men and the sentries around the barracks at Barcelona, it was stated the attack was the result of a conspiracy between a number of desperate stock speculators desirous of causing a fall in the prices of securities dealt in upon the Bourse. Today the report was substantiated by the arrest in Barcelona of a well known and heavy operator in government securities, charged with being a party to the conspiracy. The police, upon searching the prisoner found a number of letters which prove beyond a doubt that he was concerned in the attack upon the barracks, and the affair was not a revolutionary movement, but simply a novel and most desperate scheme to originate startling rumors and thus allow the operators concerned to "bear the market."

Hard Times in Austria.

VIENNA, August 7.—The bad weather is spoiling crops in many districts in Austria and Hungary. It is impossible to harvest crops on account of continuous rain. A hurricane yesterday in Lower Austria, Moravia and Upper Hungary destroyed the season's vintage. In Gumpoldskirchen district many rivers have overflowed the banks and the adjacent country for miles is inundated. Several persons have been killed by the falling trees and houses.

Guatemalan Fiction.

CITY OF MEXICO, August 7.—A Guatemalan newspaper says that the family of General Barrundia, who was killed aboard a Pacific steamship, in the port of San Jose de Guatemala, by soldiers, has won a claim against the United States and will be paid $800,000 in indemnification.

Foreign Notes.

Baron Tennyson Thursday observed the eighty second anniversary of his birth at Haslemere, surrounded by relatives and friends. The poet laureats bears his years well and seems strong and well, as indeed he says he is. He was deluged with letters and telegrams of congratulation, among the most cordial of the messages being one from the Queen.

The Montezuma Disaster.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., August 7.—Coroner Stewart of Port Byron, has held an inquest upon the bodies of the victims of the West Shore collision near Montezuma. The testimony of Engineer Whitcomb and Fireman Kelly of the freight train, and of Conductor Kanaley of the St. Louis express, showed that Flagman Edward Connolly of the freight train did not obey the signal of his engineer to leave the train, and go back and flag the express.

The engineer slowed down a mile east of Montezuma to let Connolly off, but he paid no attention to the order. Conductor Thos. Tobin of the freight did not, as it was his duty to do, see that Connolly obeyed the signal order. The coroner's jury returned a verdict finding Tobin and Connolly guilty of criminal negligence. Both men have fled. Antonio Ambello, one of the injured Italians died at the hospital last night, making the total killed 14. The bodies of the 10 Italians left at Port Byron, were brough here last night.

THE PRESS.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 8.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to retain or preserve communications that are not used.

Farmers all over the State are complaining of a lack of help, and yet the city of Waterville is complaining that it is overrun by tramps. Undoubtedly not one of these gentry need be out of employment if he were willing to work, so there is not the slightest reason for any sympathy for them. They are simply a lazy set of vagabonds who had rather beg a living than earn it, and the application of the tramp law of the State in their case will result in no injustice.

The Ohio People's Party got the subtreasury scheme into their platform in the shape of a resolution in favor of the government's loaning money directly to individuals. In some of the Farmers' Alliances considerable opposition to this scheme has appeared of late, and it was hoped its popularity was on the wane. More conservatism would be expected in Ohio than in the States further west and if the sub treasury scheme is so strong there as appears from the proceedings of their conventions, it can by no means be considered in a moribund state.

The intentions of Gov. Hill of New York do not seem to clear up as time goes on. Whether he means to run again for the governorship this fall or will conclude to quietly slip into the Senate is just as far from solution apparently as ever. The funniest thing about the situation is that the whole Democratic party of New York is standing still waiting for him to announce what is his pleasure. Meanwhile Lieut-Gov. Jones is travelling about the state addressing gatherings here and there trying to stir up some enthusiasm for himself as the Democratic candidate, but it is uphill work. Hill holds the party in so powerful a grip that it cannot shout even until he lets go.

The new constitution of Kentucky recently ratified by the people of that State contains some good features, notable among which is the abolition of viva voce voting, a system which was abolished in every other State long ago, and the substitution of the Australian ballot. The provisions regarding taxation and railroads are, however, not so good; indeed the new constitution as a whole was not looked upon with favor by leading Kentucky men, though the masses were overwhelmingly in favor of it. The construction of the instrument was a very slipshod piece of work, and it is said to be full of contradictions and ambiguities which will give much trouble to the courts.

The old greenback hatred of the national banks crops out in the resolution adopted by the Ohio branch of the People's Party demanding the abolition of those institutions and an issue of legal tender treasury notes in sufficient volume to transact the business of the country on a cash basis. That hatred, as far as it was based on anything, was originally based on two ideas: first, that the banks were very profitable to their owners; second, that their managers by reason of them were able to control the volume of the currency, and by occasionally contracting it managed to squeeze the farmer and the laborer. The Greebackers looked upon a national bank as a sort of monopolist of the people's money, doling it out to them in small or big quantities as suited the caprice or the interest of their managers. They regarded a bank president very much as they did a Chicago grain gambler. One was cornering the market on money and the other on grain. People who were of age at the time the Greenback wave swept over the country well remember how every Greenback convention and mass meeting used to ring with denunciation of national banks and their owners. Every Greenback convention demanded their abolition and the issue of money direct from the treasury, so that the people through Congress might control its volume. This cry of the People's Party of Ohio is an inheritance from the old Greenback party. On its face the demand that the government issue notes directly without the intervening agency of banks looks some what plausible. Why not Congress fix the volume of circulating notes? Why should it entrust any of that power to banks and bankers? That question was argued pro and con all over the country in the Greenback era, and the decision of the people was in favor of a continuation of the national banks. The decision was based on solid grounds, too. It was seen that for Congress to directly control the amount of circulating notes, would inevitably result in determining the volume of those notes, not by the actual needs of the country, but by the amount of political influence gatherings like this People's Party convention in Ohio could bring to bear and the number of votes they could control. It looks as if it might become necessary to go all over the ground again for the benefit of this new People's Party.

The story of the recent trouble between the cutters of paving blocks and their employers was told briefly by the despatches from day to day; but few readers obtained a correct idea of the magnitude of the affair, or the significance of the result. This week's Rockland Opinion gives a history of the affair, which, irrespective of an obvious bias on the part of the writer in favor of the labor union, gives a very good idea of the origin and extent of the trouble. In the Fall of 1889, the New York & Maine Block company, doing business at Mt. Waldo, in Frankfort, Waldo county, made a reduction in the price paid for making paving. The next spring the men moved for a restoration of price. The employers did not accede, matters became complicated by the refusal of the employers to recognize the union, and finally in May, 1890 a strike was ordered. Ten of the fifteen men of the Union went out, while with the remaining five and new men the business was continued on a non-union, or "scab," basis. At this time the affair was merely local. But the Mt. Waldo strikers appealed to their brethren of the paving cutters' National Union for assistance. The The National Union tried to induce the managers of the Mt. Waldo company to recede from their position in regard to their employes in the little Frankfort quarry, but no satisfactory result was reached. At last the Union determined to strike at the business of the firm elsewhere, which was extensive. So an appeal was made to the New York Central Labor Union for assistance, and that powerful body at once consented to boycott all the paving made by the New York & Maine Block Company. There was at once in New York City a big strike of pavers, rammermen, cartmen, clippers, stone-handlers, laborers and helpers. Furthermore the New York stevedores or those who unload the granite vessels were brought into it, and the company's freights could not be unloaded. It is said that at one time a fleet of over thirty vessels was waiting in New York unable to get unloaded, and all the time running up demurrage charges. In this strait the firm called upon the New England Granite Manufacturers' Association for help, and a counter blow was struck by that association ordering a lockout of paving cutters throughout New England. It is thus seen how far the little disturbance in Frankfort a year ago developed into an extensive labor tronble. But as has been announced already the trouble was amicably settled by an agreement that only Knights of Labor and union men should handle the product of the Maine firm from the time it should be quarried until it should be used on the streets. The Rockland Opinion claims this as a victory for the unions, and it seems to be such. This affair illustrates what has often been noticed before, that the laboring men of the nation are making steady progress in their ability to use organization to effect their purposes. The trades unions and Knights of Labor have had their "boom" periods, which collapsed under the force of public criticism and by the mismanagement of leaders. But out of all these affairs the laboring men come each time with added knowledge and experience of the policy necessary to make organization effective. They learn by their defeats. Fortunately the very fact that they do learn renders them less likely to make unreasonable demands on their employers; and it is probable that organized labor, while it may grow more powerful, will also grow more useful and less harmful.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The Right Honorable William Ewart Gladstone. By George W. E. Russell. [New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) This book is a succinct biography of the leading Liberal statesman of England, and the Englishman of all others who is best known and admired on this side of the Atlantic. The scope of the work would not permit any more than a mere outline of Mr. Gladstone's political career, but all the salient features of it are given clearly and interestingly. The early part of his career is especially dealt with, it being assumed that the events of his later life are within the recollection of the reading public. The criticism and comments upon Mr. Gladstone's career are for the most part borrowed from other writers, and the author has attempted little of original work in that direction. The book admirably accomplishes the purpose aimed at, which was a compact, chronological biography of the Grand Old Man.

Tales from Scottish History in Prose and Verse. Edited by William J. Rolfe. This is one of the English Classics Series for school reading, and the selections have been made with the same good taste which has characterized the previous volumes of the series. The contents include both prose and poetry. There are nineteen different selections, among them Robert, the Prince, by Sir Walter Scott; The Heart of the Prince, by Aytoun; Campbell's Lochiel's Warning; The Burial March of Dundee, by Aytoun; Rob Roy, by Scott; The Battle of Flodden, by Scott; and Edinburgh After Flodden, by Aytoun. Mr. Rolfe's notes, are as always, exceedingly luminous and valuable. (New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.)

Harper's School Speaker, by James Baldwin, Ph. D., is the third book of Miscellaneous Selections in Harper's Educational Series. The selections are from such standard authors as Keats, Southey, Tennyson, Carlyle, Wordsworth, Hood, Rev. Newman Hall of England; and among the American authors represented are E. A. Chapin, William Cullen Bryant, R. H. Dana, John B. Gough, Alice Cary, John Pierpont, Bayard Taylor, Saxe, N. P. Willis and Phœbe Cary.

Gustavus Adolphus and the Struggle of Protestantism for Existence. By C. R. L. Fletcher. (New York: G. P. Putnam's Sons; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) This is one of the popular Heroes of the Nations series issued by the Putnam's. Perhaps the career of none of the great great leaders whose achievements have been instrumental in changing the political and religious condition of Europe have been more written about than that of Gustavus Adolphus. His character and motives are in dispute today, and doubtless always will be, but of his great achievements there is no question. The book in hand undertakes no original research, it does not undertake to settle or to throw additional light on the disputed questions of his career, but is a comprehensive sketch of his eventful life based entirely upon the researches of others. The story of the life of Gustavus Adolphus, linked as it was with some of the most far-reaching events, must necessarily be a thrilling narrative, even without the aid of literary skill. But in the case of the present volume literary skill is not wanting, and the power of clear and picturesque description appears on every page. The book contains many fine illustrations, and is supplied with a good index.

Journal of William Maclay, United States Senator from Pennsylvania, 1789-1791. Edited by Edgar S. Maclay, A. M. (New York: D. Appleton & Co.; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) This journal, which is of one who took a prominent part in the proceedings which he describes and comments upon, covers the periods of the first, second and third sessions of the First Congress of the United States, and gives graphic descriptions of the debates, ceremonies and social life of that important period of the country's history. The journal was written with no thought of publication, and for this reason its criticisms are more finely and strongly made than they might have been had the author supposed they would ever meet the public gaze. The journal is of great value as throwing light on the character and motives of the early statesmen of the country. The human nature of that day appears to have closely resembled the human nature of today and the tendency to harshly criticise the leading politicians of the time and impute to them unworthy motive was quite as strong as it is now. Maclay was a Democrat and his comments upon the Federalists are frequently very bitter undoubtedly frequently unjust. They seem to show, however, that party spirit raged just as fiercely then as now and caused men to go to great lengths in the way of criticism and denunciation.

Harper's Sixth Reader. By James Baldwin Ph. D. [Harper's Educational Series.] (New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) This reader contains selections from British authors only. There are eighty-four different selections, all from the standard authors of Great Britain. There are some excellent notes for the use of teachers and an index to the notes The book is an admirable one for the purpose for which it is designed; and introduces the reader to some of the best things in prose and verse that the English language affords.

Miller, The Madonna of Pass Christian, A Tale of the Resurrection, by George F. Ormsby.

The latest volume in Appleton's Town and Country Library is A Matter of Skill by Beatrice Whitney, author of the Awakening of Mary Fenwick. Price 50 cents.

Cy Ros by Milton Cole is a late volume of the Sunnyside Series, J. S. Ogilvie of New York, publisher.

Letters of Marie Bashkirtseff, translated by Mary J. Serrano. New York: Cassell Publishing Co; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon. Marie Bashkirtseff, a young Russian girl, dying at the early age of twenty four, and unknown outside of a small circle of personal friends until her death, when she suddenly became an object of world wide interest, is presented to us in this volume of letters in a new aspect. Her Journal, pronounced by no less a critic than Gladstone, to be "a book without a parallel," has been read by everybody, discussed and criticised from every concelvable standpoint and this volume of letters is likely to find a host as numerous raady to recriticize and redissect a character which they do not and never can comprehend. Need it be asked what are the qualities that are inseparably linked with the name and personality of Marie Bashkirtseff, qualities which have given the Journal she has bequeathed to the world, a celebrity unexampled in the literature of recent years? Do they not breathe and burn in her every utterance, are they not manifest in every stroke made by her artistic hand; power and sincerity—power not always well directed, sincerity not always judiciously exercised, but nevertheless the power that is the condition of all great achievements, the sincerity that is one with the law that keeps the stars in their appointed course. Such is the view of the translator of these letters, Mary J. Serrano, who has done her work lovingly and therefore well. In this volume we have several new portraits of Marie made when she was a child.

Unhappy Loves of Men of Genius. By Thomas Hitchcock. (New York: Harper & Brothers; Portland: Loring, Short & Harmon.) The preface of the book gives the key-note to its scope and purpose. The author disclaims any originality, save in the arrangement and treatment of his sketches, the leading incidents, he says, having long been familiar to the public. He emphasizes the fact that the objects of "the unhappy loves of men of genius" have, "equally with the men," been distinguished for their intellectual gifts, and in this connection says, "the sketches, therefore, apart from the common human interest which they possess, will serve as materials for the study of love in its more refined and elaborate form." The author has an entertaining anecdotal style, which serves to give pith to the semi-woeful histories of the sentimental friendships which he recounts in six chapters. The first is of Gibbon, the man who sighed as a lover and obeyed as a son, with his inconstant love for Mme. Necker. Then come Dr. Johnson and Mrs. Thrale. Whether Johnson was ever in love with Mrs. Thrale is a matter of some doubt. That he had an affectionate admiration for her and disapproved most emphatically of her second marriage is hardly proof that he entertained a stronger feeling for his benefactress and friend. The relations to one another of Goethe and Charlotte Von Stein, Mozart and Aloysia Weber, Cavour and the Unknown, and Irving and Mrs. Carlyle are discussed in a bright and spicy manner which cannot fail to give the book the popularity it deserves.

STATE ITEMS OF INTEREST.

A good collector of taxes is a rare man in some Maine towns. The Dexter Eastern State, however, knows of "J. D. Smith, a lame man of Charleston," who is such a terror to delinquents, that the selectmen of Orneville have hired him to come over and collect their taxes after he gets through in Charleston. But is not a foreign tax-gatherer a blow at the autonomy of the Maine town?

The Hon. J. P. Bass is giving his Eastern Maine Fair a bigger advertisement in Eastern Maine than ever circus had. Large supplements in all the eastern papers and flaming posters throughout the towns are heralding abroad the premiums on fat cattle, the wonderful horse with a flowing mane, and the accomplishment of the "champion woman rider of the world," who is to be one of the attractions of the great one ring agricultural show. Is it not time for the Maine State Fair to be starting a noise, too?.

The old people in Maine who are over a hundred years old are quite numerous. The other day the PRESS noticed the mother of Rev. J. Ricker, of Augusta, who passed the century mark several years ago. There is Mrs. Nancy Britt Kennedy, of Hallowell, who is said to be 118 years old, and still talks interestingly of her experience in the Revolutionary war with her father, who served seven years. Mrs. Kennedy was born in Bowdoin, Me. In Amity, in Aroostook county, the other day, Alexander B. Carr, aged 102, was entertained at a reunion of his numerous descendants.

A man may break his neck and live, although it is not a safe experiment to try. In Caribou, the other day, George St. Peter fell from a staging, striking his neck across a wood horse. The Aroostook Republican says the doctor found three of the bones of his neck broken; but the man is on the road to recovery.

When deer browse in the streets of Bangor game must be plenty all over Maine. A party who went from Fort Kent to the Allegash, the other day, a distance of over 100 miles, report that they saw 69 deer and a moose along the route.

The young man who takes his young lady to ride in Northern Maine must have a heart of oak. As Alva Mitchell was taking Miss Jennie Smith to ride near Harmony village, in Somerset county, on a recent Sunday evening, a large bear appeared in the road ahead. Seeing them the bear took position on his haunches in the road and declined to let their team pass. But Mr. Mitchell proved to be stout of heart as any knight of old. He did not put whip to the horse and ride the bear down, because the horse refused to move. But he uttered a series of piercing and terrifying yells, which so astounded bruin that he slunk away into the woods. Miss Jennie Smith, meanwhile, maintained a composure distinctive of the damsels of the bear region.

The piano industry has not drifted entirely into the hands of foreigners. A piano factory was erected in Foxcroft last year, and from ten to twelve pianos are made monthly in that town now.

It is thought that all the ice in the Kennebec houses will be sold this season.

A young lady clerk in an Auburn store is out the price of a good umbrella. She stood it in the corner at the rear of the store a few days ago and the rats got at it, completely ruining the silk cover. Not content with this the pests had tried to drag the umbrella through a rat hole into their domain between the walls. How well they succeeded can be learned from the fact that all that remained in the store was the crooked silver handle.

The fishing in Rangeley is to be maintained if the praiseworthy efforts of the Angler's Protective Club can do it. This association was organized three years ago last May and has a membership of 230 largely sportsmen and guides. F. S. Dickson of Philadelphia, is president; E. L. Herrick, of Rangeley, is vice president; A. L. Oakes of Rangeley, is secretary and treasurer; and C. W. Barrett, superintendent. The past season there were hatched 297,000 trout and 20,000 land-locked salmon, the spawn for the latter coming from Sebago lake. The coming season from 500,000 to 800,000 will probably be hatched. The hatchery has a capacity of about 1,500,000. The fish are hatched from the last of March to the middle of April and when from thirty to forty days old, and at that time measuring about an inch and a quarter long, the young fry are let loose in the streams tributary to the Rangeley Lakes.

Volney Cushing, the Prohibition orator, is beating the big woods in behalf of the Third Party, very early in the campaign. He has been speaking in Knox county for a week.

COMFORT POWDER.

A healthy, clear skin is a great comfort to any person.

A burning, itching, scaly skin is a terrible discomfort.

To insure the one and avoid the other, use Comfort Powder.

The minor ills of life are often hardest to bear. For instance:

Tender face after shaving.

A persistent pimple just where you don't want it.

A soft corn that is soft and itches.

Itching, when a bandage or tight garmen is removed.

A little itching eczema lurking under the knee or the hollow of the arm.

Roughness of the skin.

Smarting face from riding in the wind.

Tender feet. Chafing.

For all the above, use Comfort Powder and you will find ready relief.

One person in every ten wears a truss. A serious trouble is the irritation of the spring or pad. To all who suffer, Comfort Powder is a friend indeed. It relieves the soreness and restores the skin to a healthy condition.

To Mothers: Comfort Powder is a great boon to infants. Relieving instantly scalding and chafing, and making the skin healthy and firm. It never ferments.

Comfort Powder does not drive the disease in. It is an antidote to poisonous humors. It is cleanly, effectual and quickly absorbed by the skin. It is more direct than medicine taken into the stomach, as it is medicine applied directly to the seat of trouble.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

WEST BALDWIN CAMP.

Thursday was children's day at the Advent campmeeting at this place, and there was a very large attendence in the morning, being all that could be desired. Upon the arrival of the morning train from Portland, a procession was formed and headed by the West Baldwin Cornet Band marched to the grove. After the band had played "Hold the Fort" and Sweet Bye and Bye the following programme was carried out:

FORENOON.

10.00—Devotional exercises led by Rev. O. H. Wallace, of Maine.
10.15—Address of Welcome, by Rev. M. Stevens, of New Hampshire.
10.50—Address, How to use the Quarterly in the Sunday School, by Rev. F. Beard, editor of S. S. Literature, of Massachusetts.
11.20—Talk to Teachers, by Rev. A. E. Hatch, A. B., of Massachusetts.

AFTERNOON.

1.00—Children's Hour, Chalk Talk by W. N. Tenney, of Lynn, Mass.
1.30—Address to the Children on the Education of the Blind, by Rev. A. E. Hatch, the blind preacher.
2.15—Short Addresses by several speakers.
3.20—Question Box by Rev. E. P. Woodward, of Maine.

The annual meeting of the Campmeeting Association was held after the morning prayer meeting Friday. A goodly number of new members were received. The following board of officers was re-elected:

President—Elder Mark Stevens, Ogdens, N. H.
Vice President—Elder Joshua Denton, Bridgton, Me.
Treasurer—Elder E. P. Woodward, Portland, Me.
Clerk—Elder W. N. Tenney, Lynn, Mass.
Auditor—G. W. Wentworth, Westbrook, Me.
Committee—Elder W. H. Mitchell, C. W. Wentworth and S. L. Hill.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That this association extend its hearty thanks

To Mr. C. F. Burnell for the kindness he has shown and for substantial aid.

To the citizens of West Baldwin and vicinity for their interest and help in preparing the campground.

To the Methodist church of West Baldwin for the use of organ and settees.

To the West Baldwin band for their gratuitous services on Sunday School Day.

To the Maine Central railroad for reduction in fares, and for other courtesies shown. Also to the Boston & Maine and Bridgton & Saco railroads.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed on our records and copies be sent to the local papers for publication.

Interest in these meetings is increasing and the preaching is good. Elder W. H. Mitchell is expected to preach on Sunday, also Elder W. N. Tenney will give his picture sermon on the "Life of Christ."

NORTH BALDWIN.

It looks as though the apple crop would be fair. Potatoes are looking well.

Messrs. Fog and Hills of Limerick, who have been drilling a well for N. Wiggin, have lost the drill and cannot get it out so the well is filled with mud and water. They have given up there for the present.

Mrs. Nathaniel Wiggin is visited by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Deering, of Minot.

Miss Hattie Wiggin has gone to Cornish to work for Rosco Smith.

Miss Emma Wiggin has returned home from Bridgton.

Miss Ednel Flye has gone to Lower Bartlett to work in the East Branch House.

DEATH OF AN AGED AND RESPECTED CITIZEN.

Mr Thomas Murch, our oldest citizen, passed away very quietly July 16, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Butterfield, in this place. He was born in Gorham, Nov. 27th, 1801, and lived there until 1837 when he moved to Sebago, where he lived until 1888, from there he moved to Baldwin, where he spent the rest of his life. He was selectman of the town three years and was one of our most respected citizens. He leaves four sons and one daughter to mourn their loss which was his gain for he was an earnest Christian for many years.

Bethel.

There will be a dedication ball at A. S. Bean's new hall Tuesday evening, Aug. 9th. Music will be furnished by Dixfield Orchestra, W. K. Chase, prompter.

H. H. Hastings, of bath, has been chosen principal of the Kennebunk High school.

The Methodist church will be supplied next Sunday by Rev. D. B. Phelan from Surry. Mr. Phelan is one of the most popular preachers of the Eastern Maine Conference.

Late arrivals at the Bethel House are: C. D. Holmes and wife, Boston; Mrs. E. Hill, Norwalk, Conn.; Dr. N. A. Mossman and wife, New York; Mr. T. Vose and family, Newtonville, Mass.; A. Whitney and family, Portland; A. H. Field and daughter, Portland; H. W. Sater, Boston; Capt. C. A. Hawes and wife.

Mr. Otis Heyford and wife have the entire sympathy of citizens in this section in their misfortune of loosing their buildings by fire. Mr. Heyford had just finished haying and lost all they possessed. Being quite feeble in health this is truly a misfortune for him.

The ladies of the Universalist Society will hold their annual fest, together with a carnival of days, at Ideal Hall Wednesday and Thursday evening, Aug. 12th and 13th. Two silk quilts will be on exhibition and for sale; also some fine fancy work from Minneapolis. Music and dramatic entertainment. Come one; come all.

Lock Mountain has now over 55 guests. S. B. Twitchell house, Valentine house, Grove house and Alpine house are full. The hotels are filling up fast.

Brownfield.

It is beginning to be found out that Brownfield, with its pleasant drives and beautiful scenery, is a desirable resort for summer tourists who love mountain scenery and pure air. Many strangers are daily met on our streets and the hotels are filled to overflowing, many having to resort to private houses for entertainment. The recent arrivals at the Pennikett house are: W. J. Hopkins, Malden, Mass.; Wm. F. Dusseault, Malden, Mass.; S. B. Wiley, Portland; E. A. Soule, F. F. Boody, Berry Ilisley and J. H. Burns, Portland; L. C. Baxter, Brunswick; J. B. Webb and wife, Portland; J. H. Kelley and wife and three sons, Washington, D. C.

The farmers are feeling happy, having secured a bountiful hay crop. Grain is looking finely, and corn is looking green and rank, although a little late. Especially good is the crop of those that planted sweet corn for L. C. Baxter & Bro.'s factory, having been furnished with perfect weather for the exception. In addition to this they have had the advantage of the testing of different fertilizers and methods of planting and cultivating corn on land hired for that purpose by J. B. Webb, the able superintendent of the factory. The farmers feel very much elated with the prospect of a good yield and many are already making their plans for an increased acreage another season.

Buxton.

WEST BUXTON

The seizure of a case of liquor last week by the deputy sheriff marked J. C. Foster was condemned Thursday by Judge Marshall, who ordered it destroyed. Foster is a minor. X.

Stocks and Bonds.

At New York money has been easy, ranging from 1½@2 per cent, last loan at 2 and closing at 2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper at 5¾@7½ per cent. Sterling Exchange is quiet and weak with actual business for bankers bills at 4 83½@4 84 @ 4 86. Commercial bills are 4 82½@4 84½. Government bonds are dull and steady. Railroad bonds quiet and generally firm.

The stock market continued active after 12 o'clock, and the upward movement made further progress; higher prices were reached all along the line, Union Pacific touching 39, 1½ better than opening figure and 2½ higher than lowest price. No other movement occurred, the market gradually settled down to dullness, while best prices were well maintained. After delivery hour they slacked away fractionally but late in the hour some improvement was noted. The close was quiet and heavy with small gains over first prices.

The transactions at the Stock Exchange aggregated 236,900 shares.

All the Cantons are to arrive in Portland on September 1 and will be received by the reception committee of Canton Ridgely and march to City Hall, where a collation will be had, and shortly after 2 o'clock the line will be formed, consisting of between 800 and 1000 Chevaliers and will proceed to the Union Station through some of the principal streets, where a special train will be taken for Old Orchard. There quarters are to be furnished them during their stay. On Wednesday a grand dress parade and review will take place on the beach, and in the afternoon the Cantons will take a special train and visit Saco and Biddeford where preparations are being made to give them a grand reception and collation. Sudden Death.

Mr. C. B. Cornell of New York, with his wife, daughter and son-in-law, S. C. Reed, Esq., also of New York, arrived here from Boston Thursday night and took rooms at the Falmouth Hotel. Yesterday they visited various places of interest about town, and among other points went to Fort Allen Park. While they were there Mr. Cornell complained of feeling ill, and it was decided to return to the hotel. The party got on a street car for that purpose. They had proceeded as far as the corner of Wilson and Munjoy streets, when Mr. Cornell suddenly fell back in his seat and in a few moments was dead. He was at once taken into the house of Mr. Boothby and medical aid was summoned. It was of no purpose, however, for the gentleman was dead. Mr. Cornell was a man about 61 years of age, and was a prominent citizen of New York city. Undertaker Martin and Coroner Gould were called, but of course no inquest was necessary. Mr. Cornell's son Frederick, who resides at Dallas, Texas, was notified by telegraph of his father's death.

Accident at Dry Mills.

Tuesday evening the team of Fred S. The pole from the passenger wagon entered the neck of the horse, severing large arteries, so that death ensued in a few hours. Happily no person was seriously injured, though the wonder was that all escaped.

HARD LUCK ON THE SCHOONER

But She Ought Not to Have Violated the Law.

Yesterday afternoon at 3.30, the tug Plymouth left her wharf bearing Fish Warden George E. Chushman, Deputy Sheriffs Chenery, Sterling and Woodsum and aide Woodsum, armed with a warrant against schooner Henry Ellsworth of Gloucester, Mass., Charles Jackman, master, for fishing within the three-mile limit.

The tug made good time out by the Cape and off the Kirwood House, came upon the Ellsworth so close to the beach, and so intent on the glorious luck she was having that her lookout, if she had any, did not notice the Plymouth until she was close upon her. The Ellsworth had her seine out, drawing it in loaded to overflowing with great, fat mackerel. The deck was covered with barrels of the fish, and the men amidships were up to their knees in the flapping beauties.

The Plymouth asked if Captain Jackman was aboard, and was told he had gone ashore. Warden Cushman, however, who was not noticed, spied the captain hid from sight by a sail and he told the deputies that he saw him. The deputies started to board the schooner and were warned back by the crew, but the officers got aboard armed with their writ. Then Captain Jackman came forward and accepted service of the writ. The Plymouth took the Ellsworth in tow but was delayed for half an hour by the schooner's seine line getting snarled in the tug's wheel. Tug and schooner reached the wharf in Portland at 8.30 o'clock.

It was pretty tough on the schooner's crew. They had been working like beavers all day, had struck a full fare of splendid fish, and all for naught, because they were fishing where they had no business to. The Sayward Brothers of Gloucester own the vessel.

Dennison of Massachusetts, made a wager one day last week at her father's Nathan Dawes, that one could pick a box of raspberries in less time than the other. To add excitement to the contest, they were each to put up a five dollar bill, and as they chose no one to hold the stakes, the greenbacks were pinned on dress and coat waists. The contest began and Mrs. Dennison took the lead and also the five dollars at the close."

Mr. Sylvester is summering at Otisfield, Me., the home of his boyhood, where he is revising and putting the finishing touches to his manuscript.—[Boston Record.

The New Stone Crusher.

The new stone crusher on Portland street will be in use in a few days. The plant consists of a Gates crusher, six-horse power engine and boiler, and the elevator house, containing a separator and four bins for the reception of four sizes of broken stone. The engine and boiler are housed over by a neat building, and the crusher is located just outside in a pit dug in the earth, and covered over with a platform level with the surface of the earth. The mouth of the crusher is like a funnel, rising a few inches above the platform. A fluted cone of hardened steel made to revolve in the funnel, appears to be the principle of the crushing machine. A stone dropped into the mouth of the crusher would be caught between the cone and the side of the funnel and ground to pieces. The broken stone falls into the pit below the crushing machine, and from there is elevated by buckets running on an endless belt to the top of the elevator building, which is built close by the crusher pit.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

PORTLAND THEATRE.

There was another good performance of "Rosedale" given last evening by the company at this theatre, and if anything better than on the evening previous, as is the case with second performances of a play. The scenes between Elliott Gray and Rosa Leigh drew hearty applause. Miles McKenna was as repulsive a villain as could be desired. The camp scene, with the song of "Col, the Crack," and its startling situation, when Elliott, with little Sir Arthur at his back, cries out, "Up, Lancers," in the face of the maddened Gypsies, brought down the house. This afternoon and evening "Rosedale" will be given for the last times.

GREENWOOD GARDEN.

This week the Blocksom & Burns comedy company have been giving a very pleasant performance at the opera house. Today will be the last chance to witness it. Last evening there was a party of forty couples at the dance hall, who enjoyed the fine floor and good music. Tonight there will be a social hop at the same place. Clara Beckwith, the champion lady swimmer of the world, has more than kept up her record in that line. Her movements in the water are very graceful. Yesterday she gave a series of 16 movements, commencing the entertainment with a leap from the main deck of the steamer. Take the 10.30 and 2.15 trips of steamer Spring and see her wonderful performance.

PAVILION THEATRE.

The Pavilion Theatre was crowded again last night. This afternoon and evening will be the last opportunities you will have of seeing "London by Night," and if you have not had the pleasure already it will pay you to go and see the play. The scenery and mechanical effects are artistic and realistic, and Manager McCallum and his comedy company all excellent in their parts. A most entertaining bill of specialties is given at each entertainment, in which such well known artists as Emma Pollock, Harry Wright, Harry Fielding and Maggie Walker appear. If you intend going you will be wise if you get your seats at Stockbridge's, where reserved seats are for sale. The Casco Bay Company will have an extra boat on to accommodate the large number tonight.

Cumberland Mills.

Mr. John Jordan had the misfortune to have his axe slip while chopping wood, striking his foot near the large toe joint, cutting quite a gash. No serious damage was done except to the boot.

Mr. Ferdinand Jackson is quite a genius in the musical line. Not being fully satisfied with his piano, he, while taking an outing at Libby's beach, collected a number of long beach stones, and by skillful arrangement has succeeded in producing the necessary sounds for a stone piano, upon which he already renders many popular airs.

The Presumpscots will play the Portlands this afternoon, on the Portland grounds. Unfortunately Martin cannot play with them.

Funeral of Edward J. Dolan.

The funeral of Edward J. Dolan, Past Commander of William H. Smart Post 30 of Cambridge, formerly of Portland, was held Thursday afternoon at the home of the deceased, No. 13 State street, Cambridge. The services were conducted by Past Commander W. H. H. Plummer of Post 30, the exercises at the house being very simple, while at the grave in Cambridge Cemetery the impressive ritual service of the order was carried out by Past Commander Eben W. Pike. A large representation of the post, under command of Past Commander John Kinnear, attended the services at both the house and grave. A large delegation was also present from the Ancient Order of United Workmen. The pall bearers were Past Commanders W. T. Spaulding, P. Allen Lindsey and Eben W. Pike, Surgeon C. J. Collins and Comrades James, Kneeland and John Malady.

Maine W. C. T. U.

The school of methods at Old Orchard closed last evening. It has been a remarkable gathering, although arranged as a state meeting, many "white ribbons" from other states have been in attendance, and four nations were represented by W. C. T. U. workers and speakers. All agree that the meeting has been a great success, and plans are being made to have a similar school, either at Old Orchard or some other Maine point next year.

Leland Tanning Company.

The Leland Tanning Company of Skowhegan, have established a branch of their business in Portland, where they have leased a yard and buildings. Messrs. Foss & Baker with T. I. Noyes run the tanning business here under the process understood only by Mr. Noyes and his son.

We would call attention to the advertisement of W. F. Little this morning. Mr. Little has had thirty years experience in the insurance business in this city and will look well after the interests of his customers.

MORTAR-SPOTTED SKIN

Covered with Scales. Awful Spectacle. Cured in Five Weeks by the Cuticura Remedies.

About the 1st of April last I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales, being formed meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, until I had been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the REMEDIES, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I know of a great many who have taken the REMEDIES, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express my thanks to you. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as clear as a baby's. GEO. COTEY, Merrill, Wis.
